Biography

The Copper Country Heritage Council was organized in September, 1980, to promote community awareness and facilitate cooperative actions to help maintain the valuable heritage of this region that makes it a unique area for residents and visitors alike. Heritage is taken to mean social and economic practices, ethnic and religious traditions, architectural resources and the arts. The Council's membership represents local organizations and groups, as well as private individuals who share enthusiasm and concern for the rich local heritage of Michigan's Copper Country.
